Returning Economic Confidence in Arkansas Is Seen

SPENCER IS HONORED

Hope Man Chosen Alternate to National Nominating Committee

BULLETIN
LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Members of the American Banker's association group attending the state association convention here elected Stuart Wilson of Texarkana to the national nominating committee, with Lloyd Spencer of Hope as alternate.

Convention Opens

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—A picture of returning economic confidence to this state was presented before the Arkansas Banker's association as the annual convention opened here Tuesday.

"Through our banking windows we can see Arkansas move forward. We see roads thick with automobiles, long freight trains carrying commodities to market, new homes, increased manufacturing earnings, good agricultural profits due to managed production and prices, and better confidence and aggressiveness," George S. Neil of Russellville, retiring president, said in his annual report.

Bray Hammond of the St. Louis Reserve bank said that 57 Arkansas affiliated banks had $17,500,000 on deposit with the St. Louis bank, which he said was $9,000,000 more than legally required.

Arkansas Rivers Reported Rising

Streams Expected to Exceed Flood Stage in Some Sections

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Lowlanders watched carefully Tuesday the steady rise of most rivers in Arkansas. The streams, fed by heavy west and rain, crept toward or past flood stage.

In northeast Arkansas, the St. Francis was expected to exceed flood stage at St. Francis and other points in Arkansas. It was already over the mark in Missouri.

The upper White rose rapidly and flood stage of 23 feet was expected at Batesville Tuesday, with 25 feet at Newport Wednesday, 22 feet at Georgetown Saturday and 25 feet at Clarendon by May 12.

The Petit Jean was eight feet above flood level at Danville after a rise of 12.4 feet to a mark of 28. Less noticeable were rises on the Arkansas and the Ouachita, though a 24-foot stage was predicted for Camden by Thursday.

Residents Ordered Out

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—United States engineers viewed the late spring rise of the Mississippi river without alarm, but took precautionary measures to prevent the second flooding of areas inundated earlier in the year by crevasses in low levees.

The Mississippi County (Missouri) Flood Committee issued emergency orders to abandon the southern part of the 100,000-acre Birds Point-New Madrid, Mo., floodway after the Weather Bureau at Cairo, Ill., predicted a stage of from 47 to 48 feet on the Ohio at Cairo by Saturday.

Some 3,000 residents living south of Highway 55 in the government-owned floodway were ordered to leave immediately and take with them "their tents, household goods and food supplies."

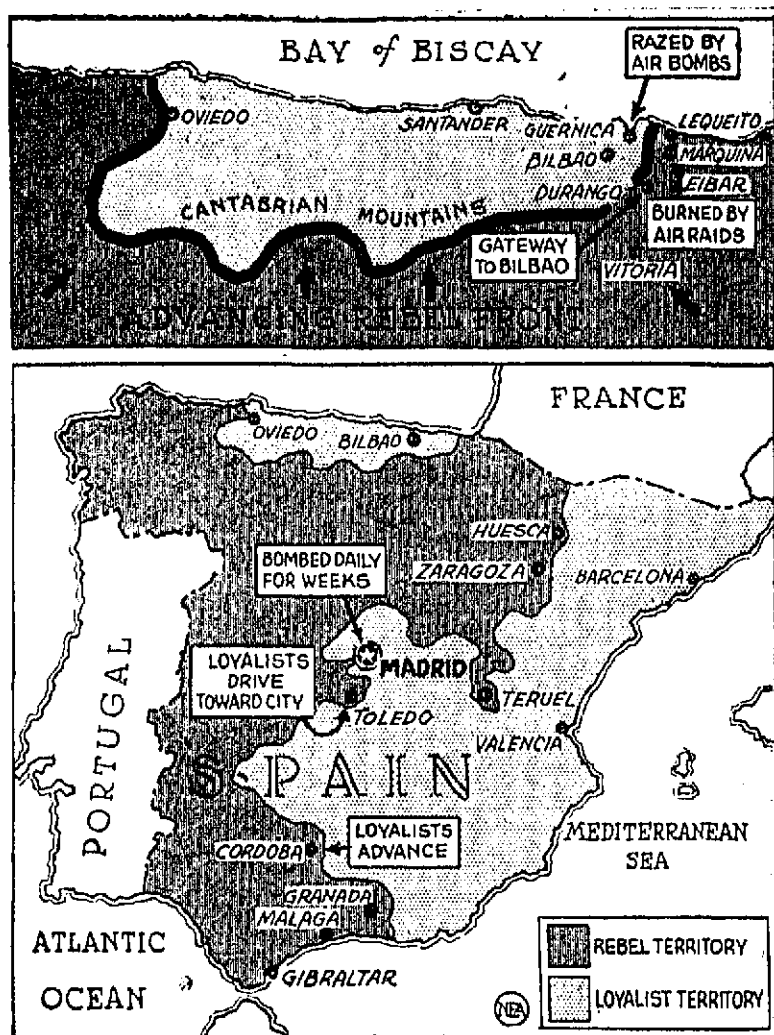

Jury May Get Case Denhardt Tuesday

Prosecution Asks Death of Former Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky

NEW CASTLE, Ky.—(AP)—The Commonwealth of Kentucky asked the death sentence for Henry H. Denhardt, who served as its lieutenant governor and as head of its National Guard. His lawyers ridiculed the idea that he killed the woman he loved and pleaded for his acquittal.

Before the long hours of impassioned oratory began Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall instructed the jury it could find General Denhardt guilty of anything from wilful murder to slaying in self defense or innocent, on the indictment charging he shot to death his fiancée, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor. The jury, 11 farmers and a filling station operator, is expected to begin consideration some time Tuesday.

Robbery Here Nets Thugs $100 in Loot

Home of Eddie Spragins, North Louisiana Street, Is Robbed

The home of Eddie Spragins, North Louisiana street, was entered Saturday night and loot estimated at $100 was stolen.

The robbers entered a rear window, gathered up the loot and carried it away in a hat box. The robbery was discovered when Mr. and Mrs. Spragins returned home from a theater.

The loot included: Blue suit with two pair trousers, underwear and several shirts, 38 caliber Colt's revolver, ladies white gold wrist watch with bracelet, Swiss movement, coin purse containing small amount of cash and two keys.

Bag of Indian-head pennies believed to be from $3 to $5, safety razor and other articles.

Refuge for 10,000 Believed Assured

Insurgents Advance on Bay of Biscay With Artillery

ST JEAN DE LUZ, France.—(AP)—Refuge for about 10,000 women and children from the siege or bombardment in Bilbao was virtually assured Tuesday as fleet passenger liners raced to evacuate as many as possible before insurgent guns close the port.

Bilbao's defenders were fighting their "last ditch" fight as the insurgents advanced with heavy artillery commanding the Bay of Biscay outlet.

Italy and Germany Allied
ROME, Italy.—(AP)—Italy and Germany will continue and expand their friendship agreement, informed sources said after a conference between Premier Mussolini and Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, who arrived here.

There will be no formal military alliance because, diplomatic circles said, no such written pact is necessary. It appeared more probable that Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler might effect a thorough oral understanding in future conversations. (A projected meeting in Germany between the two has been rumored for some time.)

Pope in Message

VATICAN CITY, Italy.—(AP)—Pope Pius told Adolf Hitler Tuesday that the Catholic church must be left free to fulfill its mission in Nazi Germany.

The Pope's message took a moderate tone, leaving the way open for further conversations concerning the church-state concordat setting up separate spheres of the church and state in the Reich.

Turned Brown By Brown Turner

DALLAS, Texas.—Man who runs the telephone business in this section said Saturday that beginning soon long distance charges would be trimmed down some, but it seems that cheap talk's already been the ruin of too many people. They're rehabbing the Centennial here for the Pan-American exposition to open next month. There'll be things to look at from Central and South America, and, so far as I can gather around here, the price of postage stamps at the exposition postoffice will be the same as uptown or in any other place in this country. Different colors will be different prices, just as always.

Order Prohibits Spa Beer Stores Being Shutdown

Judge Witt's Restraining Order Enjoins Agent at Hot Springs

FOUR BARS LEASED

Order Is Effective Until Mandamus Hearing Friday

HOT SPRINGS.—Circuit Judge Earl Witt issued a restraining order Monday prohibiting C. B. Lovell Sr., Garland county representative of the state Revenue Department, from interfering with Lloyd Thomas in the sale of beer and light wines at 408 Central avenue, known as the Millspaugh store.

Thomas said that he had leased the beer and light wine concession from that establishment and, in his petition, said he also had leased that portion of the building where the bar and chairs used in connection with the sale of beer are located.

Licenses of the Southern Club, Kentucky Club, Ohio Club and Millspaugh's cigar store to sell beer and light wine were revoked Saturday.

The three other establishments have taken the same course as Millspaugh and leased their bar and equipment and right to dispense beer and light wines to those qualified to conduct such places, and that the same order that applied to Lovell and the state Revenue Department would be asked.

Judge Witt issued a temporary restraining order against Lovell, which will be in effect until Friday, when the mandamus hearing will be held in Circuit Court. The order enabled Thomas to operate the bar in Millspaugh's store until that time, and guaranteed he will not be molested, or any action taken against him until the mandamus proceedings is disposed of. In either event, it is likely the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Theaters Appeal to Higher Court

Supreme Court Test Is Awaited by Burlesque Producers

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Embattled burlesque producers assembled a cast of legal talent for a supreme court engagement next week in their efforts to open New York's temples of the striptease—dark for the first time in Broadway's history.

A prologue played Monday before Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Rosenman assured next week's feature performance when a supreme court jury will be asked to determine whether License Commissioner Paul Moss acted with proper discretion in refusing to renew the licenses of New York's 14 burlesque theaters.

The court refused to order Moss to issue licenses immediately for the 1937-38 season, as required by counsel for three burlesque theaters. Until the jury can be assembled, burlesque managers must remain dark, and performers under wraps.

"Burlesque" managers, strip-teasers and slapstickers in Chicago admitted were upset by Moss' action. In Washington, the federation of churches prepared a protest against the capital's lone burlesque theater. Night club owners in Detroit were to talk over the situation with the superintendent of police.

Opponents of burlesque in New York had the backing of Mayor LaGuardia who defended Moss' action.

Ten Made Ill by Lead Poisoning

Arsenate of Lead Used in Biscuits Instead Baking Powder

JUDSONIA, Ark.—Four persons were in a hospital at Searey and six others were ill at their homes as a result of having eaten biscuits at noon Monday in which arsenate of lead was used instead of baking powder. The mistake was not discovered until several of the victims had become ill.

In the hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Salmon, their five-year-old daughter, Wanda, and Mrs. Salmon's father, Lewis Dill. Hospital attendants said that they were responding to treatment and that they probably would recover.

Others made ill were Mr. and Mrs. Will West, their two daughters and two other children of the Salmons. They are being treated at their homes.

Why Wrathful Duke of Windsor Sued 'Coronation Commentary' Author Told by Glance at Book

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
Just what is there in Geoffrey Dennis' book, "Coronation Commentary," that caused the Duke of Windsor to file a libel and injunction suit against the author and his publishers?

Dennis, a distinguished English novelist, wrote this book—or most of it a year or so ago. It was designed as a coronation-time specialty, apparently, and it was largely a review of the history of British kingship and British coronations, closing with a glowing tribute to the then king, Edward VIII. Just as the book was finished Edward abdicated, and Dennis added a final chapter on the abdication. The book appeared, and the Duke of Windsor promptly sued both Dennis and the publishing house of William Heinemann, Ltd.

Application Heard
LONDON.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor's application for an injunction and libel damages against the author and publisher of "Coronation Commentary," a critical book about his short reign on the throne, was heard Tuesday without the results being announced.

Heinemann, Ltd., for libel, asking for an injunction against further publication of the book.

The book then was withdrawn from sale in England, but the American edition has been released by Dodd, Mead & Co.

What is it to stir the former king to such wrath?

The Reasons
You need only to read Dennis' chapter on the abdication to find out. In it, discussing the reason why the British public refused to let Edward retain his throne and marry the American Wallis Warfield Simpson, Dennis says:

"She came too far below, she clashed too crudely, with the nation's idea of ideal, dream and myth, of feminine royalty. Queen Elizabeth, Queen Victoria, Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary; the ladies of York, Gloucester, Kent—whatever standard, among these variant high ones, of English queenship your own might happen to be, the new aspirant did not fit it. Ideals are ideals. Idols must be idols. She WOULD NOT DO. The come-down from Queen Mary to Queen Wallis was too steep."

Dennis also takes some pot shots at the free spending, heavy drinking set of American expatriates in London with whom he complains, Edward had cast his friendship. So there is this paragraph:

"The invaders, of course, were not beloved. They were as a rule no credit to the great country they had exploited and deserted, nor to the one in which they now were roystering and ruling. . . . They were cock-a-hoop, and since Edward's accession were getting insolent and out-of-hand. There was but one more word to conquer. The first woman to sit in the ancient Commons was a divorced American; why not then also—?"

And this:

"England is proud, and minded seeing her throne provide a music-hall turn for low foreign newspapers. . . . The country bitterly resented the other country's brazen, delighted cheapening of its high possession—the tabloid press jeering, interfering—and in its anger naturally, if ungratefully, ignored the correct and cordial tone of most Americans and of the good American journals."

And this:

"Much of those days' exciting news was evidently based on fact. What was not so evidently based did also its bit; the rumor and hearsay, fantastic and untrue. . . . Hitler—never scandalizing, whether they were wholly true, or wholly untrue, or something in between, those stories heaped—already half in revenge—upon the head of a woman unable to defend herself sealed finally her fate. If such stories—true or not, no matter—were in circulation about you, you were not fit to be Queen of England."

Other Things
Even the working class, long friendly to Edward consented to his departure, says Dennis.

"He left his land with kindly dignity. We saw him go with love and pity, and cynical relief. Was it so heartless of those South Wales film audiences, unemployed, entrance half-price, stonily not to cheer him? He was a tragic broken man; but he was off to the sun, and the white snow. . . . and they—"

In one place, Dennis discusses the common statement that Premier Baldwin never would have taken so strong a line with Edward "unless there were other things." He goes on to say: "Unfortunately, there were. Things done and said in his infatuation; his love's prodigality. . . . In moments of Geoffrey Dennis, left, wrote "Coronation Commentary," a book about King Edward VIII and his abdication, with references to Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, the ex-king, now Duke of Windsor, right, has sued the author and publisher for libel.

Edward Joins Her in French Castle

Mrs. Simpson and Edward Meet First Time Since Last December

MONTS, France.—(AP)—Edward, Duke of Windsor, was reunited in the moss-covered castle De Candé Tuesday with the woman for whom he renounced an empire—Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Five months and one day of enforced loneliness for former King Edward and for the "woman I love" ended at 1:45 p. m. when the Duke reached the ancient Chateau after a train and motor trip from Austria.

The two had not seen each other since December 3, when she fled to France during the abdication crisis. Her divorce final, they are now free to marry.

Kills Self After Scolded by Father

12-Year-Old Boy Takes Own Life Because of Whipping

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(AP)—Wilson Oliver, 12-year-old son of a WPA laborer, shot himself to death at his home here Monday afternoon, three hours after he had been whipped for truancy from school.

The father, Olen Oscar Oliver, arrived at the one-room home just in time to hear the shot that took his son's life.

A note, found beside the body, said: "Rison I shoot my self is on account of old man Oliver. Good-by and good luck. Wilson Oliver."

"P. S. I am 12 years old."

The father said he whipped the lad last Friday. Another whipping was administered Monday by Wilbur Cox, the boy's fifth grade teacher, in the presence of Leo B. Dolan, school principal.

Freight Brakeman Shot in Hold-Up

Boone Walker, 52, of Pine Bluff, Is Wounded by Negro Gunman

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—Boone Walker, 52, Pine Bluff, Cotton Belt railroad brakeman, was shot through the left hip shortly after 10 Monday night when a negro attempted to hold him up at Ogenaw, about 16 miles south of Camden.

The freight train on which Walker was working had gone on the siding to allow a northbound train to pass. The negro appeared from the darkness and commanded Walker to hold up his hands. It was reported here, and when the brakeman resisted he was shot, officers reported. The negro escaped.

Walker was taken to a hospital at Camden, arriving there at 11:15. Attendants said that his leg was broken, but that he probably would recover. Walker left Pine Bluff Monday night for Camden.

This was the third hold-up of Cotton Belt employees during the past few weeks. The other victims were Conductor A. J. Ware, who lost his watch and money, and Brakeman Powell.

Says Ed McDonald Never Had Hold of the $480 Warrant

Testimony Defends Former Secretary of State, Ed McDonald

BAILEY IS FLAYED

Defense Claims McDonald "Persecuted" by Bailey Administration

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Former State Auditor Charley Parker, called as a state witness testified Tuesday that there was no indication that former Secretary of State Ed McDonald "ever had hold of" the $480 warrant on which the state is basing McDonald's current trial on a charge of obtaining money with capitol supply purchases.

On cross examination Parker said of the warrant:

"It was cashed by the Fidelity Chemical company by I. L. Zeibert. There is nothing here to indicate that McDonald ever had this warrant," Parker declared.

"It shows that J. V. Clayton (deputy secretary of state) got the warrant. It doesn't show that McDonald ever had hold of it," Parker concluded.

"Most of the morning session was consumed with attorneys dispute over laws relating to duties of the comptroller and auditor in issuing warrants. Clayton took the stand and testified the supply invoice was approved by McDonald and that he (Clayton) issued the voucher from which the warrant resulted."

Bailey Is Scored

Chief Defense Sam Robinson accused Carl E. Bailey's administration of responsibility for what he charged was a "vicious and vindictive persecution" of former Secretary of State Ed McDonald because of his close race against the chief executive in last year's primary.

Robinson's charge against the administration, which brought a protest from Prosecutor Fred A. Donham, came during his opening statement of the jury after he had questioned veniremen closely whether they or their relatives were "connected with the present state administration so as to be obligated in any way."

"Ed McDonald was born and reared in Grant county," he declared. "He was politically ambitious. He wanted to be governor, he might have given too much time running for governor but he is not charged with that."

"He ran a good race. The incumbent governor defeated him by some 3597 votes. A difference of 1800 for McDonald would have made him governor."

"If he (McDonald) had run a poor race and had been beaten by 15,000 votes, there would not have been any prosecution."

"They got McDonald indicted. I think it all developed in the mind of Mr. Bailey. His idea is not to become a leader by having the love, affection and respect of the people."

"The defendant is a victim of a vicious and vindictive persecution and nothing else."

"I anticipated that they were going to try him for everything in the world. This is the strongest indictment they have because they set it for trial."

"The only issue involved is that he fraudulently obtained a warrant from the state auditor. The system used in the state capitol purchases is not any system. Every man say he was negligent. He is not being tried for negligence."

Prosecutor's Statement

Donham preceded Robinson before the jury to charge that McDonald paid out $9,789 to the Fidelity Chemical company from April of 1932 to October of 1935, and received only two barrels of soap from the firm.

He also accused the former official of receiving 10 per cent from some supply orders and receiving a $350 donation from a supply salesman.

The gravity of the case was his only reference to the heated 1936 gubernatorial campaign between Bailey and McDonald would be through presentation of evidence designed to show that McDonald took $8,000 out of his campaign fund to pay the McKesson-Lincoln company for capitol supplies bought from the Standard Disinfectant company at Memphis. He charged this was done because of the company pressing its claim.

Secretary of State C. G. "Crip" Hall was the first of 48 state witnesses summoned to testify. He established that McDonald was secretary of state three terms.

Paroles Are Given to 29 Applicants

Four Furloughs Also Are Recommended for Prisoners

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—The state penal board granted 29 applications for parole Monday and recommended four furloughs. Chairman Dallas Dalton said more than 150 applications for clemency were received.

In a business meeting prior to the clemency session the board appointed D. C. Young of Pine Bluff as general bookkeeper for the prison system and approved purchase last week of 75 mules. Dalton said the animals were replacements for old mules at the Cummins and Tucker farms.

The chairman said that no action was taken by the board on the proposed sale of Tucker farm to the resettlement administration.

Superintendent A. H. Reed reported that approximately 15,000 acres were in cultivation at the two farms and that more than 10,000 acres were in a "good stand" of growing cotton.

Deliver Letters on Mother's Day

Postoffice Will Perform Service for Special Delivery Stamp

Delivery of Mother's day letters or packages on the actual day—Sunday morning, May 8—may be obtained through the postal service by simply adding a special delivery stamp, 10 cents for a letter, to the regular postage.

Instructions should either be written on the letter, or attached to it, asking the postmaster to make delivery on Mother's day, and the special delivery stamp will do the rest, according to a statement Tuesday by Robert M. Wilson, Hope postmaster.

26th Dividend Is Paid by Hamilton
Return of 1.84 Cents, Up 29 Per Cent Over Same Period Last Year

Orville W. Erringer, of Hope, state manager for the Hamilton Depositors Corporation, Denver, Colo., Tuesday received notice from the home office of his firm announcing the distribution of the 26th consecutive dividend to all holders of Hamilton Trust Shares of 1.84 cents for each Hamilton Trust Share Beneficial Interest, payable on April 30th.

According to the quarterly report for the period ending April 30th, 1937, this quarter's distribution of 1.84 cents represents an increase of 29 per cent over the distribution for the corresponding period a year ago. Also the company reports a 67 per cent increase in the volume of business written in the first quarter of 1937 over the first quarter of 1936.

The Trust Fund now consists of 788 shares of each of the thirty companies plus and additional 846 shares of Air Reduction company representing an extra split up distributed last year. The market value of the Trust Fund as of April 24, 1937, was $1,781,805.50 as compared with $891,789.75 on the same date last year.

The Hamilton Trust Fund consists of a prorated ownership in thirty of the leading corporations in the country, held in trust for contributors by the International Trust company of Denver, Colorado, established in 1891.

Women field workers during their seasonal work, as in fruit picking, olive and rice pruning, live in well-ventilated dormitories, their health as well as their children's strictly supervised.

Unlike Hitler, Mussolini was never obliged to send the married women back to their cooking and their children because they had never taken a very active part in public life. Like all Latin women, they reigned supreme in their home, leaving the business of politics to the men. Also unlike Hitler, Mussolini never resorted to draconian measures such as condemning, if not actually forbidding, frivolities such as pretty clothes, smoking, make-up and amusements. In his opinion, these are not detrimental to the more serious future task of Italian women—that of helping in the building up of the new Empire.

"Feminine Mussolini" Directs Italian Women's Footsteps in Fascist Paths

Miss and Mrs. Italy Are Made to Feel Their Importance in the New State

Little known because little publicity is permitted to fall upon women holding important Italian posts, a woman actually is a sort of dictator of feminine Fascism. This woman—Professoressa Dattoressa Maria Castellani—was sought out and interviewed exclusively by Rosette Hargrove, a European staff writer for NEA Service.

ROME, Italy—Flatter the girl! Calling upon that neat bit of feminine psychology known to even the least worldly wise village swain, Fascism has sought to win the women of Italy to its banner.

Benito Mussolini has made women feel their importance—raised them to the rank of collaborators in his scheme of government. He has contrived to give even the most humble housewife the impression that she is vital to the welfare of her country.

His frequently expressed respect for family ties, his solicitude for the children, his appreciation of the Italian woman's fortitude and courage in war-torn times—all these are things which you constantly hear from women in all walks of life.

If the thunder of distant guns and the ominous hum of machinery in armament mills ever causes Italian women to think they are giving birth to sons who will be mere cannon fodder, these "un-Fascist" thoughts are pushed far back in their minds.

Women Forge Ahead By Merit
Alone

With further unerring feminine psychology—a knowledge that women know most about women—the feminine Fascist movement has been placed under the leadership of Professoressa Maria Castellani, a woman with a brilliant record as a university professor. She is the director of all the Feminine Fascist throughout the country, with head office in Rome.

Her office is perched at the top of the Palazzo Braschi, overlooking the Roman square celebrated for its famous fountain. Here she works fourteen hours a day and more, surrounded by an army of women helpers and secretaries.

During the interview which she granted this correspondent, she was being continually interrupted either by the telephone or visitors. Although business was conducted with all the exuberance of the Italian character, Professoressa Castellani gets things done quickly. The Roman salute greeted every caller, but it had none of the seriousness and grim earnestness that confronts you in Berlin.

"The new Italian woman," declared Professoressa Maria Castellani, "unlike those of other countries, where in many cases they occupy important political posts merely because they have just followed a way paved for them by father, husband or brother, achieve recognition on individual merit and nothing else. Publicity is taboo. The result is that while a great number of Italian women fill important positions, their work is recognized in just the same way as a man's, without any privilege of sex."

According to this dynamic person, there is nothing to stop a woman from occupying the highest posts in politics and the "corporations."

Have Representation On Highest Council
Within the National Fascist Party, women are assimilated to the Feminine Fascie, which number more than 700,000. As the express wish of these women, their activities are specially directed to social work in its numerous ramifications.

The leaders of the Fascie are elected, legally, Vice-Presidents of the provincial sections of Maternity and Child Welfare work as well as collaborators in all other organizations for the protection and welfare of working women.

Trade-unions admit women on an equal footing with men, and in the essentially feminine branches they fill the highest posts. To the Corporations Council, the nucleus of the Corporative Parliament, five women have been designated, two for the clothing guild, one for textiles, including the silk-worm industry, and two for the professional and artist guild, which includes a sanitary section for certified nurses and midwives.

"All these women," Professoressa Castellani went on to say, "are real workers, and not merely intellectual women camouflaged as experts." In Italy, furthermore, unlike Germany, all careers are open to women, excepting the army, diplomacy and magistracy. There are several women professors in the universities. In the various Ministries, there are women who are heads of bureaus, and the fact that they have not achieved high-

Pick of Women Train Girls
14 to 15

Italy has today women barristers and solicitors, 5 women notaries, nearly 800 doctors, 195 engineers and chemists, 13 architects, without counting dentists, veterinary surgeons, as well as countless writers, journalists and artists.

The teaching profession absorbs a great number of women. Over 140,000 have adopted this career, where every branch is open to them with a few exceptions such as the teaching of philosophy and literature in the higher boys' or co-educational schools.

One of the most important phases of woman's work in the Fascist regime is the protection of fellow-women. The activities of every organization are devoted to the preparation of children for the collective life of the country.

The "Balilla" organization covers a million and a half female children who up to the age of fourteen represent the "Little Italian Women" group; from 14 to 18 they come into the category of "Young Italian Women" and from 18 to 22, they automatically become known as "Young Fascists."

Much study and time are devoted to the sports and recreative activities of these girls. Italians point with great pride to the enormous strides young Italians have made in all branches of sports. An Academy of Physical Culture has been founded in Orvieto, where the pick of Italian women prepares for leadership in physical culture under careful training and study. These skilled teachers in turn train the various categories of "Young Italians" in every kind of athletics.

Agricultural workers' welfare work is pointed to with particular pride by Doctor Maria Castellani. Country housewives are given classes in domestic economy, manual work, weaving and so on. Farmers' wives are given instruction in poultry farming and other work related to the farm and are thus able to increase the welfare of their families.

Women field workers during their seasonal work, as in fruit picking, olive and rice pruning, live in well-ventilated dormitories, their health as well as their children's strictly supervised.

Negro Minstrel at Saenger Theater

Third Annual Presentation of Shover Street School Minstrel

On the stage at the Saenger Wednesday night only, comes Manager Swanke's third annual presentation of Hope's famous Shover Street's negro school minstrel.

This year as in the past, it is under the personal direction of Naomi Yerger and everything will be new except the name. Forty-five minutes of new songs, dances and comedy is always assured Hope fans when these negro youngsters take the "spot-light." One show only at 8:30 and the manager is giving it to his patrons at bargain prices.

On the screen is a sprightly romantic comedy, "When Love Is Young," featuring Virginia Bruce, Kent Taylor and Walter Brennan. The picture blends the pathos of a deeply human experience with the brilliance of Broadway's laughter and song.

The picture, based on a McCall Magazine story, "Class Prophecy," deals with an obscure country girl who, snubbed by classmates and ignored by the school hero she admires, accompanies her uncle to New York to study singing.

There she meets a theatrical press agent whose exploits, for all their hilarity, land her in jail, but eventually help her musical comedy stardom. Returning to her home town she is disappointed in finding that the school hero she had looked forward to meeting again is merely a small town failure.

Kent Taylor is the nimble-witted press agent and Walter Brennan brings an entirely new character to the screen in his humorous role as the uncle who operates a sidewalk telephone in New York.

20th Dividend Is Paid by Hamilton
Return of 1.84 Cents, Up 29 Per Cent Over Same Period Last Year

Orville W. Erringer, of Hope, state manager for the Hamilton Depositors Corporation, Denver, Colo., Tuesday received notice from the home office of his firm announcing the distribution of the 20th consecutive dividend to all holders of Hamilton Trust Shares of 1.84 cents for each Hamilton Trust Share Beneficial Interest, payable on April 30th.

According to the quarterly report for the period ending April 30th, 1937, this quarter's distribution of 1.84 cents represents an increase of 29 per cent over the distribution for the corresponding period a year ago. Also the company reports a 67 per cent increase in the volume of business written in the first quarter of 1937 over the first quarter of 1936.

The Trust Fund now consists of 788 shares of each of the thirty companies plus and additional 846 shares of Air Reduction company representing an extra split up distributed last year. The market value of the Trust Fund as of April 24, 1937, was $1,781,805.50 as compared with $891,789.75 on the same date last year.

The Hamilton Trust Fund consists of a prorated ownership in thirty of the leading corporations in the country, held in trust for contributors by the International Trust company of Denver, Colorado, established in 1891.

Mid-America's 'Emperor' Kirby

Little known in national financial circles heretofore, Allan Kirby (above) of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., reeketed to the position of rail magnate through participation in the purchase of control of Mid-America Corporation from the partners paid $8,000,000 or more for the shares that control the $3,000,000,000 Van Sweringen rail empire.

AT THE THEATERS

At the New South Sea girls are more romantic than many of Hollywood's charmers because they never hide their emotions and they don't try to vamp!

So declares Mala, Eskimo actor, and hero of "Last of the Pagans," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's romance of life in the Marquesas Islands, filmed in a five-months' trip to the South Seas, and now playing at the New theater.

The hero of "Eskimo" and Lotus Long were the only two Hollywood players. The rest of the cast was made up of natives of an atoll in the group, and a few sailors cast in other roles. Richard Thorpe directed the picture.

"There is something refreshing and romantic about the girls there," relates Mala. "In the first place, they are absolutely honest. If a girl likes a man, she lets him know it without concealing her emotions. They don't flirt. They don't try to vamp a man they like. They simply let him know about it and if he likes the girl who likes him that's that."

A refreshingly new type of western picture—one perfectly balanced with equal parts of music, comedy and action, is "Comin' Round the Mountain," new Gene Autry musical action feature, which opens Tuesday at the New theater.

Two spectacular action sequences—Autry's dare-devil, hand-balanced battle with a wild horse which he subdues without rope or bridle—and the greatest cross-country horse race ever screened—are the outstanding thrills. Equally entertaining are the Spanish and charming, soft music, and Autry's new song number "Chiquita."

The third element of this exceptional western picture is the unequalled comedy provided by rotund Smiley Burnette.

Autry as a Pony Express rider in addition to playing his usual hard-riding, quick-shooting cowboy role, is a delightfully romantic figure. His lightly played love scenes in the fiesta setting with Ann Rutherford, a delightfully vivacious little senorita, revealed an unsuspected flair for gay romancing.

But Fanny, I just want to play well enough for my own amusement.
"Yeah, but I'd rather other people wouldn't get a laugh when they hear you."

Jersey City Giants Set Attendance Mark

By NEA Service

JERSEY CITY — Rochester's Red Wings defeated the Jersey City Giants, 4-3 in a 12-inning inaugural contest in the new $1,000,000 Roosevelt Stadium here before a record minor league attendance of 31,234.

The former minor league attendance record was established two years ago at Chattanooga when 24,639 witnessed a night game.

The Jersey City team is managed by Travis Jackson, former third baseman for the New York Giants, whose home is at Waldo, Ark.

John Hunter, English anatomist, once transplanted a rooster's spur to its comb.

Brilliant Calliopsis Is Easily Grown

Calliopsis, one of Best Annuals for Cutting.

One of the gayest flowers to be found in any garden, and one hardly enough for almost any climate, is the calliopsis. Formerly known as coreopsis, the true name for the perennial strain, it has recently been developed to new heights as an annual, and is known for its wiry stemmed blooms brilliantly colored in yellow and maroon and crimson. For table bouquets it is unsurpassed.

The rich red types are most effective for garden decorative purposes, but they need the lightening touch of the yellow trim to set them off properly. Most of the varieties have this trimming, differing in widths and intensity, with a maroon, scarlet or crimson center. A nice arrangement is to have the tall varieties in the center of a bed, with the dwarf types on the perimeter as an edging.

Calliopsis may be planted early or late, and because of their rapidity of growth, they are particularly suitable for the late planting when some other flower has failed. Soil conditions do not matter so much, but they will grow anywhere, but they demand plenty of sun. Plant them where they are to grow, as transplanting is not always satisfactory, and when they have made a fair growth, thin them out to 12 inches apart for the tall varieties, and from 6 to 8 inches for the dwarfs.

When midsummer comes, the blooms will form a solid mass, covering the foliage almost completely.

Surgeons to Work on P. Dean's Arm

Shoulder Injury Blamed for Sore Arm of Card Pitcher

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(AP)—Paul Dean ailing Cardinal pitcher, agreed Monday to undergo an operation on a shoulder injury blamed for trouble with his arm which has prevented him from attaining his former brilliant form.

"I'll do whatever the club wants me to do," Paul told Sam Breadon, Cardinal president, during a conference at which Breadon recommended the operation. An X-ray examination has showed a piece of cartilage in the under-side of the arm joint has been torn loose.

Breadon said the club's surgeons would decide when the operation would be performed. He made no announcement as to Paul's status with the club.

Sam Baugh Is Elected TCU Baseball Captain

Walker Says He Quit Being Crazy to Keep From Going Crazy in the Dugout

Being Confined to Dugout for Two Years While Less Capable Men Patrolled Outfield Was Real Punishment to Walker

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

DETROIT—Gerald Holmes Walker quit being crazy to keep from going crazy.

That is the Mississippi Rebel's explanation of his transformation from a harum-scurum extra outfielder to the talk of the American League.

"Some ball players have to have sense knocked into their heads," beams the newest hero of Navin Field. "Mickey Cochrane sent sense into mine."

Being confined to the dugout for the better part of two and a half years while men of considerable less ability patrolled the Detroit outfield was real punishment for Walker, who gets as much fun out of playing today as he did when he was the star of the University of Mississippi. A grand competitor who hates to lose, Walker was recklessly aggressive.

"I had a great deal of time to study The Mouthpiece while on that involuntary sidown strike," says Walker, "and it was when I started to copy him that I started snacking that onion."

The Mouthpiece is Gerald Holmes' nickname for Charley Gehring, because all the peerless second sacker ever says is "Good morning" and "Good night."

Walker Shortens Swing

"When I finally got next to the fact that The Mouthpiece had the right idea," asserts Walker, "I shortened my swing and commenced to look pitches over. Check back and see how many times The Mouthpiece has struck out. I've been with him for seven years and it seems to me that I can count them on the fingers of one hand."

"I used to be too eager to hit and swung at too many bad balls as a result. I was trying to punk the ball into the next county instead of just meeting it. The thing is elementary."

Walker was ordered home and when the club returned, Cochrane let the players decide by secret ballot whether the Rebel was to remain with the outfit. The athletes voted to keep Gerald Holmes, for, like the late owner, Frank Nevin, they suspected that if he were shipped he would return in another uniform to plague them.

The Madcap of Ole Miss took a 10-day suspension without pay like a major and that fall rewarded his mates for their loyalty by driving in the tying run in a world series game with the Cardinals—and then being picked on first base.

As he wanted to be Walker is as good as he wants to be and in a measure attributes his more consistent hitting of last season to his being installed as leadoff man. To him that meant getting on base and all Gerald Holmes ever required was the urge. He wound up clouting .353 and driving in 93 runs in 134 games.

Walker launched the current campaign by belting Mel Harder of Cleveland for a home run, triple, double, and single. With the season well under way, he's roaring along at a .500 clip. He's batting fifth, sucking the big guns, Gehring and Hank Greenberg.

Right now he's the toughest hitter in baseball to get out and the toughest to keep from scoring once he is on the bases.

All Gerald Walker had to do was escape from the bonds of impulse. He'll make life miserable for pitchers and the opposition in general just so long as he enjoys his freedom.

Discourage Literature

DENVER.—(AP)—The mountains are too high in Colorado for writers of that state to produce good literature, says Thomas Hornsby Ferril, Colorado poet.

When a writer thinks about the mountains he decides that "this is all so big, only God could have caused it," Ferril says.

"Now, a writer must feel that he is master of what he writes about before his literature will be good. Authors stand in awe and wonder at the sight of the mountains and this shows in their works."

"The writer abandons the 'play for the setting'."

Ferril recently was awarded an honorary degree, doctor of letters, by the University of Colorado.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — As spring breezes begin to blow and the Kentucky Derby approaches, a survey of all turf fronts gives a good glimpse of what is likely to happen at Churchill Downs, May 8.

For instance, Pompon is ready for the big race. The son of Pompey was trained in the warm regions of the Carolinas, where winter never comes, and where the high iodine content of the soil aids in the growth of horses.

Likewise, War Admiral is fit. The sturdy son of Man o' War got his preparation at Berlin, Md., in a little area of the famous eastern shore which also escapes wintry blasts.

This is preparatory to saying that in the highly important matter of getting ready Kentucky horses haven't had an equal chance with some of the others.

Columet Farms, for instance, found it impossible to bring Privileged to hand and decided to point the Sir Gallahad III cola for later and important three-year-old events at Belmont Park. Galsun, another Columet Farms hopeful, hasn't shown the readiness which might have been expected of him.

Brooklyn and Billionaire, the Col. E. R. Bradley pair, were far short in their initial efforts, but may be ready by Derby Day.

Candidates Raced Into Condition.

Kentucky horses appear somewhat handicapped in the Derby despite the fact that the Blue Grass had a fairly open winter. It was the flood and the steady spring rains that slowed things up so that trainers have had difficulty in getting their charges ready for the longer races.

On the other hand, No Sir and Court Scandal were developed via the racing route in Florida, where Maedie Saratoga star of last summer, disappointed, Maedie still is a long way from his best shape.

Another horse which did not winter in Kentucky is well liked in the Derby. He is Reaping Reward, which filled out nicely at Palooka, Tenn.

Mrs. Ethel D. Mars had Reaping Reward shipped to Arlington Downs for the $10,000 Texas Derby, but the juvenile luminary of 1936 was scratched when it looked like mud.

Mrs. Mars' Milky Way Farms Stable had a half dozen animals at Arlington Downs capable of accounting for the Texas Derby, and won it with Mars Shield, a filly, on what turned out to be a fast track.

Mrs. Mars doesn't pass up any $10,000 races. That is one reason why she was the leading money winner of last year.

Many trainers resorted to the sometimes doubtful method of racing their horses into condition. Chicolero, Mossawire, and Merry Makers, the "poor man's" horse, got in shape that way.

Derby Horses Prepare for Mud

There is no other trainer in Kentucky with the magic of Derby Dick Thompson of the Idle Hour Farm for preparing a horse for an early spring race, but even if the Bradley horses are at their best, the Blue Grass appears to have the hard end of it in its own great race.

Also, the continued spring rains give promise of a swarming party on Derby Day. That is why astute George Conway has worked War Admiral on muddy days and why Merry Maker, the superior mudder, is being considered.

Mud might not hurt the chances of the majority of the Kentucky horses, but the chances are that it would not suit the Bradley horses any too well.

Bradley luck always has been bad in muddy going. Blue Larkspur, which "the tunnel" holds up as his greatest horse, ran out in a muddy Derby won by Clyde Van Dusen.

And if mud wouldn't ruin the chances of the Bradley thoroughbreds, lack of top condition certainly would.

Mud also would figure to militate against the chances of Reaping Reward, although he and Military recently turned in a sparkling workout in that sort of going.

Fitness remains the most important requirement of a horse in any race, however. It has captured many a Derby and will win this one. And with Pompon, War Admiral, Chicolero, Mossawire, and No Sir in top condition, the Kentucky horses will be hard put to it to hold their own.

The tiger, a cross between the tiger and the lion, was produced by the maharajah of Navangar, India, and presented to the London Zoo.

College Pitcher Holds Giant Club

Billy Weir Wins His First Game for Boston, 3 to 1

BOSTON.—(AP)—Billy Weir, Boston's sophomore southpaw who came to the Bees from the University of New Hampshire chalked up his first victory of the season Monday with a six-hit pitching performance that topped the Giants three to one.

In the fourth the New Yorks fourth, dropped them a game and a half behind the idle first-place Pirates, and marked the first time this season that the National League champions have lost a series. In each of the Giants' losses, the winning team has scored no more than three runs.

One bad inning lost the game for Hal Schumacher, Bill Terry's starting pitcher who was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, when the losers scored their only run.

Between the third and the eighth, no Giant got as far as second. Then Catcher Gus Mancuso hit a two-bagger to center, took third on Weir's balk and scored on a force play.

The Giants' outfielders had a day of rest, none of them getting either an assist or a putout. The Bees' outfield had only three, one of them the best fielding play of the afternoon as Debs Garms ran into left center to snare Joe Moor's hard liner in the ninth.

BROOKLYN.—(AP)—A home run by Hank Greenberg with the bases full set off an attack that enabled the Detroit Tigers to defeat the Chicago White Sox 12 to 9 Monday, sweeping the series and strengthening their hold on first place in the American League.

The Tigers were trailing by four runs when Greenberg walloped the ball over the scoreboard in the third inning scoring White and Cochrane, who had singled, and Gehring, who had walked. It was the second homer of the year for Hank, who was out of action nearly all of last season with a broken wrist. He also walked twice and got a single in five trips to the plate.

Pitching was ineffective on both sides. The Tigers got 19 hits off four Chicago hurlers, while the Sox belted two Tiger hurriers for 16 hits. Victor Sorrell, who pitched to the last two Chicago batters in the ninth inning, alone went unscathed.

Manager Mickey Cochrane and Bill Rogell each got four of the Tiger hits. Cochrane got two doubles, a triple and a single. Rogell bagged three singles and a double.

Harlem 'God' Once Declared Insane

Ousted From Georgia in 1914 He Went to New York Negro Colony

By CHARLES NORMAN
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK—Awd whispers of "God," melodious chants of "peace," it's wonderful," greet Father Divine's appearances among his followers, but to ordinary mortals he seems a genially shrewd colored person of less than ordinary height, with a bald head, and an addition to double-breasted blue suits and bright ties set off by a pearl stick-pin.

He reached the heaven of Harlem by easy stages from points south.

Valdosta, Ga., saw the last of him in 1914. There, a jury found him of unsound mind, recommended that he leave the state. The warrant called for the apprehension of "John Doe, alias God," for he withheld his own name and his followers gave him the appellation which has stuck. Following his trial, he left Georgia.

Hits New York in 1915

His real name seems to have been George Baker. In his 60 years of wandering evangelism, his various names underwent a number of changes but "God" remained. In Baltimore, as a disciple of one Samuel Morris, a negro preacher who asserted he had been born again as "Father Jehovah," Baker became "The Messenger."

At various times he was Major J. Divine, Rev. J. Divine, and finally

Father Divine.

He arrived in New York with a handful of followers in 1915. In towns en route, where he electrified negro audiences with his powerful oratory (whose underlying doctrine is "Peace, it's wonderful"), his followers found temporary jobs which supported the wandering group.

Religious Communism

First in Brooklyn, then in Long Island, Father Divine launched a kind of religious communism. Wages were pooled, he saw to the feeding and clothing of his followers, inserted ads to get jobs for unemployed disciples, and even appeared before prospective employers to announce he was the Rev. J. Divine, and could "recommend and re-guarantee" the job-seeker concerned.

It was in Sayville, L. I., that his group flourished and his fame spread. His Sunday dinners, at which food was good and plentiful, and where no collections were taken, brought emissaries from Harlem, who returned to New York's negro community bearing tidings of a messiah.

By 1921, with complaints pouring in, the police of Sayville decided Father Divine was a "public nuisance" and arrested him on that charge. He went to jail. A judge died, his conviction was reversed by the appeal court in 1933, and his fame grew. He removed his "heaven" to Harlem and issued a statement to set at rest whispers, rumors and charges.

Divine Elucidates

Part of his statement, signed "I, Rev. M. J. Divine," follows: "I AM giving this statement to forewarn the public and those who may be concerned; that these reports are unfounded, the most of them, especially in reference to any person or persons selling their insurance policies or turning them in and giving the refunds to ME, and also the fictitious

"The Ten Million Followers of Mine, and Believers, having given ME their lives and all they have possessed, does not mean that they gave it to ME as a person, neither have these things come under MY Personal Jurisdiction. When they say, they have given ME anything or all they have, they are not speaking of giving ME anything Personally, for they can tell the World at large, I do not need it as a Person. . . .

Rides in Rolls Royce

This statement, with characteristic punctuation, would appear to tell as much as it leaves untold concerning Father Divine's financial operations.

Observers believe the "angels," devoted followers of Father Divine, hand over their wages and possessions, receiving in return board and lodging and "Peace, it's wonderful." Several suits, to secure possessions thus handed over, introduce a sordid, mundane note in the rapturous atmosphere of Divine's "heaven."

Although no one has ever discovered that Father Divine either carries any cash on his person, or owns anything in his name, he rides in a Rolls Royce (second hand) and operates apartment houses, flats, shops and "extension heavens" in Baltimore,

Annual Flowers Make Best Bouquets

A Generous Planting of Annuals.

The small gardener who has an oversupply of cutting material, in his flower bed is a rarity.

This is one instance, at least, where the old adage, "Your mouth is bigger than your stomach," does not apply, for most people plant too few flowers for cutting purposes, and although they swear each fall that next year they will plant twice as many, when the time actually comes they haven't enough.

Annuals are way out and above the other flowers for this purpose. For brilliancy of color, variety, ease of culture and certainty, they are unrivaled. Besides this they have a season beginning on July 1 which lasts until the frosts. Their use applies to every garden, and especially to the renter who does not care to put in an expensive display, but who wishes his full measure of summer blossoms during the season at hand.

A few sure-fire growers: Sweet alyssum and ageratum as edging plants, calendulas, excholtzias or California poppies, marigolds, nasturtiums, annual gaillardias, petunias, scabiosas, if seed are kept picked; salvias, ten-weeks' stock, verbenas and zinnias.

Any of these may be planted in beds, or the border. They show up well in a single color, mixed or in a selected variety of color. If sown around the first of May, you will have blooms by the first of the following month, which will increase as the season progresses.

$75 Given Every Case Childbirth

New York State Leads Way in Modern Social Maternity Program

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—For all the chatter taxpayers hear about care of needy mothers and infants, two big defects still appear in all state programs for maternity aid.

There have been—and are—many programs on law-books for "maternity and infancy care." But on the authority of Dr. Martha Eliot, of the federal children's bureau, none of the plans provide money for the mother at the actual delivery of the child, and then, there aren't enough trained obstetricians to go around.

New York Leads Way

New York, where the lower house of the legislature has just voted to give $75 worth of medical care to every mother in the state at child birth, seems to be leading the way.

The New York plan tackles the first problem. But the children's bureau would like to see both problems met through the social security act.

New York's plan is no "baby bonus" a la Mr. Mussolini. I simply would provide $75 for doctors, nurses and hospitals at the birth of a child. It is intended to help only needy mothers, who would have to appear for examination during the first three months of pregnancy.

Security Division Helps Some

In 1934 73,841 babies died in the United States during their first month of life. And 12,859 mothers died in childbirth. That's a high rate compared to other civilized countries. Too high, says Dr. Eliot.

It has been attacked by the maternity division of the social security act in the last 15 months. The division pays out $3,800,000 each year to states that match the funds in maternity health programs. But these funds also avoid the major issue. They don't pay for the actual arrival of the child. They merely provide for examinations and advice before and after. The advice is expected to cut down the death rate.

But where does the mother go who can't afford a doctor at the crisis, asks Dr. Eliot, and answers: "She gets such help as she can from relief organizations."

Seek National Aid

To make matters worse plenty of women who could afford a doctor have to take the help of a medic who never had complete training in obstetrics.

So the children's bureau would like to go farther than New York state, and on a national scale. The bureau has just had a conference of child welfare experts who recommended that more money be spent through the social security act's maternity division to do two things:

1—Provide medical care for needy

Why Laxatives Fail in Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait for relief from clogged bowels. Constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria are made, causing GAS, indigestion, flatulence, and other ailments. If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adierika. Adierika causes G.A.S. to act on the stomach and bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on lower bowel only.

Adierika's DOUBLE ACTION on your system a thorough cleaning, bringing out all poisonous waste matter that may have caused G.A.S. and sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months. Adierika relieves stomach G.A.S. once and usually removes bowel G.A.S. in less than two hours, waiting for overnight results. Famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adierika one half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed.

WAGES WIN RACE WITH LIVING COSTS

The Factory Worker's Earnings are further above Living Costs Today than ever before.

Real Wages Today Are Highest in American Industrial History

Cost of Living Rises, But Incomes Rise Faster, Study Shows

CHICAGO—Industrial wages are increasing faster than the cost of living, both currently and over a period of many years, according to a study made by the Machinery Institute.

Hourly factory wages reported by the National Industrial Conference Board are higher today than ever before in the history of detailed industrial statistics. Weekly earnings although lower in dollars than in 1929 are about 6 per cent higher in terms of purchasing power than in 1929, the previous high mark in the advantage of wage earner's income over cost of living.

"Between 1911 and 1922 the cost of living increased 59 per cent, but weekly wages during the same period increased 92 per cent," according to the Institute. "In 1929 the cost of living was 63 per cent higher than in 1914 and wages were 125 per cent higher, and in 1937 cost of living was 42 per cent above the 1914 level but weekly wages were 106 per cent above those of 1914."

45 Per Cent Above 1911 "Real" weekly earnings—purchasing power of wages—in 1929 were 37 per cent above 1914 and today they are 45 per cent above 1914. This improvement has taken place as a result of increases in wages made possible by greater production and technological efficiencies and by reduced prices resulting from improved industrial methods.

NOW: Simplified Rates on Classified Ads!

Effective now Hope Star is substituting a new and lightning-quick word-rate in place of the cumbersome old line-court method of figuring classified advertising charges.

HERE'S HOW—

For one time, simply multiply the number of words in your ad by 2 cents. The minimum charge is 30 cents.
For three times, simply multiply by 3 1/2 cents. The minimum is 50 cents.
For six times, multiply by 6 cents. Minimum 90 cents.
For one month (26 insertions) multiply by 18 cents. The minimum charge for a month is $2.70.

THE RATE'S THE SAME

There's no change in the rate—it has just been placed on a word basis for the public's convenience.
Note from the above schedule how the rate declines as the insertions increase. An ad run for a week (six times) costs 6 cents a word—only a penny a word a day.
Of course the ad must run consecutively—without a break.

HOW TO COUNT

In making your word-count, disregard the classification name such as "For Rent," "For Sale," etc.—this is free. But each initial or name, or complete telephone number, counts as a full word. Here's an example:
FOR RENT—Three-room modern furnished apartment, with garage, close in. Bargain. J. V. Blank, Phone 9999.
Total, 15 words, at 2 cents a word, a charge of 30 cents for one time; at 3 1/2 cents a word, a charge of 53 cents for three times, etc.

NOTE: All orders placed by telephone are due and payable upon presentation of bill.
